Ethnologists study both cultures, which characterize human groups, and cultural histories. They compare and study material and social traits, and they trace contacts between cultures.

Ethnologists often spend time in the field collecting data. This part of the work is sometimes called ethnography.

A handwritten musical score on aged, stained paper. The score consists of three staves. The top staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a 3/4 time signature. It contains a half note on the first line (F#4), a quarter note on the second line (D5), and a quarter note on the third line (B4). The middle staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a 3/4 time signature. It contains a half note on the first line (F#4), a quarter note on the second line (D5), and a quarter note on the third line (B4). The bottom staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a 3/4 time signature. It contains a half note on the first line (F#4) and a quarter note on the second line (D5). A large, stylized brace is positioned to the right of the first two staves. The paper shows signs of age, including creases, stains, and a small dark mark near the top right.
